Further Delays Reported Along Line From Chicago—Plans Changed

RECEPTIONS ARE ALL DELAYED

Monongahela Holds Welcome Until Company A is Able to Get Out From Pittsburg—Time of Arrival in Valley Town Probably Not Before 8 O'clock

Company A, Tenth Regiment is due to arrive in Monongahela tonight when a much delayed reception will be tendered them Owing to slow travel over the lines from Chicago, the trip taking days instead of hours, the regiment did not arrive in Pittsburg this afternoon until 2:15 o'clock. This was more than five hours late. A Pittsburg parade started at 2:30

At the press time no definite information could be given as to the time of arrival of Company A in Monongahela but it will not be before 7 o'clock and more likely it will be 8 or 9. The Charleroi Veteran Guard Drum corps and the American Federation band had made plans to go this afternoon to Monongahela and they had to alter their arrangements.

The reception tonight it is expected will be brief. Upon the arrival of the company the idea of a quick march to the armory will be followed, with only consolidated bands and the Company A members in line. The arrival of the regiment in Pittsburg was marked in Monongahela and at other valley points by the tolling of bells and the sounding of whistles.

BUYS HOSTELRY AT FAIRCHANCE

Albion Hotel Acquired From Frank D. Myers by M. E. Riggs

LICENSE TRANSFER IS MADE

The hotel license at the Albion hotel, Fairchance, has been transferred by the Fayette county court from Frank D. Myers to Mahlon E. Riggs, of Charleroi. Mr. Riggs has been a resident of Charleroi for 25 years and never has had any hotel experience, he told the court. Letters from Charleroi bankers and business men, stating that Mr. Riggs is a suitable man to hold a license, were read to the judge by Riggs' attorney.

Judge E H. Reppert asked Mr. Riggs if he was financially obligated to any liquor interest, and was told that he was backed by a brewing company to the extent of $5,000, he having paid $17,500 cash for the hotel. Judge Reppert told Mr. Riggs that he must change his line of credit, declaring that the court does not want any of the hotel keepers in the county to be dependent upon any wholesale liquor dealers, brewers, distillers or other concerns holding equipment in the hotel business.

The applicant advised the court that he would change his line of credit as soon as it could be done, and Judge Reppert stated that the transfer would be granted upon condition that Mr. Hughes take up his paper held by the brewing interest within the next six months. The judge stated that the court does not want the hotel keepers to be in anyway obligated to liquor concerns, their directors or stockholders.

The license at the Albion hotel has been held by Mr. Myers, who came from Greensburg, since last May 1, the license formerly having been held by Friedman & Sechler. Mr. Myers formerly was at Donora. A number of improvements were made at the hotel since Mr. Myers has been in charge. The real estate and equipment have been purchased by Mr. Riggs.

DAIRYMEN ASK MORE FOR MILK; FAMINE NOW A PROBABILITY

Pittsburg is facing a milk famine as the result of action taken last week by Ohio producers and Tuesday night by a committee representing Washington county producers.

The ultimatium of the Ohio shippers, threatening to hold their milk unless they are given an increase in price, will expire Sunday night. If Washington county producers follow the recommendation of the executive committe of the Tri-State Dairymen's association made Tuesday night at a meeting in Midway, they will issue a similar ultimatium.

Every member of the executive committee of the Tri-State organization except one was present at the session in Midway. Robert Bamford, of Midway and J. P. White of Hickory, who were delegates to the meeting of the directors of the Ohio Shippers' association held last Thursday in Jefferson, O., reported on what had taken place. Sixty locals, representing from 2,500 to 3,000 producers owning about 50,000 cows, were unanimous in supporting the proposal to ask the Pittsburg dealers for an increase in price with a strike threat unless the demands were met.

Monday the members of a price committee of eight men from the Ohio organization met with representatives of the four big milk dealers of Pittsburg—Rieck, McJunkin-Straight, Ohio & Pittsburg Milk Co., and the Allegheny Milk Co. The dealers were unable to agree on an answer to the demands of the dairymen and were given until tomorrow noon to do so. If they do not answer then, the shippers will hold their milk, beginning Monday morning.

DOCTRINE OF HELL IS EXPLAINED IN SERMON

Rev. Hayes in his sermon at the mission service at St. Jerome's church Wednesday evening explained the doctrine on hell. Numerous questions were presented in the question box. He said in part:

"The Catholic is not at liberty to deny or to doubt the existence of a place of eternal punishment. To deny or question the doctrine of hell and its eternity is to cease to be a Catholic. There are those who pretend to sympathize with the damed; yet no one goes to hell except the sinner who with his eyes open puts himself liable to go there and refuses to go to heaven—not only once, but time and time again. Jesus Christ overflowing with love and pity would never condemn anyone except a heartless, ungrateful sinner whom He could not induce by all that He said and did and suffered to give up his sins and enter heaven.

"Would that we had the abundance and clearness of scriptural proof for every doctrine of our holy faith, that we have for the dogma of eternal punishment.

"Diverse manners of punishments are the lot of the reprobate, but their greatest pain shall consist in the loss of God. The end of man is the possession of God. Man was created

NO NATIONAL HOLIDAYS

There is no national holiday, not even the Fourth of July. This is something very little known to the people of America. This week Columbus Day is observed in nearly all the states, and next month Thanksgiving Day will be observed by virtue of presidential proclamation, but they strictly speaking will not be national holidays.

Congress at various times has appointed special holidays. It passed an act in the second session of the Fifty-third Congress making Labor Day a public holiday in the District of Columbus and it has recognized the existence of certain days as holidays for commercial purposes, but with the one exception named, there is no general statute on the subject. Thanksgiving Day is made a legal holiday only in the District of Columbia and the territories by the President's proclamation.

COLUMBUS DAY.

In honor of the man who discovered America tomorrow will be observed in about 35 states of the union as a holiday. This will mean at least a partial suspension of business, much oratory and a general celebration.

We ought to remember Columbus Had it not been for him—but then what is the use drawing conclusions Somebody else would have studied out the problems that he did, but they would not have worked them out as soon as he did. In those dark ages of the fifteenth century little was known of the formation of the world. It was quite natural for the people to consider the earth a flat surface, since that is what it certainly appeared to their limited vision. But Columbus looked ahead, and saw that there must be a reason for all things He proved himself a master astronomer and a scientist of the first water, though the people thought him a mere dreamer and a man not to be taken seriously. It is generally the way.

To Columbus we owe much. He was the explorer who faced the terrors of the unknown and uncharted sea, mutiny, even death, to find a new continent that he instinctively felt existed, and discovered America. Civilization followed him and established the land that we now know and of which we are immensely proud. The name of Columbus was made immortal.

SOME STARTLING FIGURES.

Probably the most convincing argument in the present campaign against the continuance of the Democrats in power is contained in a statement recently issued by the census bureau, a department of the Democratic government.

It has been freely charged and with ample cause that this country was suffering from the Democratic near free trade tariff legislation. Efforts have been made through Democratic sources to refute that charge. But from the census bureau, distinctly a Democratic source, comes the information that between 1911, just before Democracy was inaugurated and 1914, just before the foreign war was started, the aggregate of wages paid in this country decreased more than 7 per cent and the value of American products had fallen off more than 18 per cent

The decline in wages and the falling off in the values of production were suddenly and certainly checked by the outbreak of the foreign war. Abnormal conditions have possessed the industries of the country since then and these abnormal conditions came with the foreign war. The census bureau report demonstrates that fact beyond dispute.

With the abnormal conditions in the industries, however, came a burdensome advance in the prices of the necessaries of life. Life sustaining provisions bought for a dollar when the Democratic administration was inaugurated now costs more than $1.50 and the advance in the prices of some ordinary household needs has become positively prohibitive.

The Democratic party has failed utterly in administering the affairs of the country. The foreign war has helped them out, but the census bureau report shows, but the voters are not disposed to depend upon war abroad to provide them with living wages and keep the cost of living within their reach. The value of [illegible] in 1911 and its worth today is a convincing argument that the Democrats should not be continued in power.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

THE TOWN BOY PROBLEM

An exchange says the parents who "have a big strapping boy to hang around the house all day without employment of any kind are committing an injustice against the boy and heaping up trouble for themselves to be reckoned with the future. There are boys who are around the streets from early morning till late at night, only going home to eat.

The town boy is unfortunate in some respects. In many there is no work for him at home, or in his father's place of business, and often he is unable to find work that he is able to do. The result is that he easily falls into the loafing habit, and the loafer's vices, taking color from his associates and learning to sneer at the successful and decry the youth who chooses to work for low wages rather than none.

An aimless boyhood not infrequently grows into an aimless maturity. When one has no settled objective to strive for, no plans advanced, no goal to be gained, the forms the hand-to-mouth habit, which is, as a rule, fatal to whatever ambitions his parents have for him. This is one weakness of merely book education. It leads nowhere in particular—Washington News.

BACK TO SOIL.

With the high cost of living the popular topic of the day and from the predictions of those who should know likely to become more and more so, the call of the soil is being heeded to a greater extent. The back-to-the farm movement is being given a decided impetus and according to the new Federal farm loan board, the cities everywhere are sending in their quota of inquiries from those who would try their hands at seeking from Nature that assistance in solving the problem of getting something more than a mere existence that they have been unable to find in the crowded communities. The board, it is announced proposes to help the city man get to the farm as well as help the man already there to do better.

It is a new phase of the old question that has been agitated for many years. There is no gainsaying that with more people engaged in cultivating the soil, even though their cultivation be limited to small tracts, the scarcity of foodstuffs and to a degree the high cost of them would be remedied. But there is that other side of the subject that involves a knowledge of farming if the pioneer from the city is not to be worse off than before. The romances of the successful outcome of a back-to-the-soil move made by some make pleasant reading, but, as in other things, the failures are not detailed for the edification of those who might be tempted to try the same course. And there is no denying that the failures are pretty numerous. The joke about the reliance placed on canned goods by the country folk is too often a reality.

As has been pointed out by those in charge of food arrangements in warring countries, the folks who grow their own food, or a good portion of it must be counted out in any reckoning of those to be given their share of supplies, because they will look after themselves before letting any of their produce go to others, and not even a government at war can prevent them. The same idea holds good in time of peace. How many combine living in or near the city where they work with the effort to help out the larder by growing something on ever so small a patch of ground? What has become of the city garden movement that was to do so much? It is a problem that still awaits solution. For the most part, whether through necessity or desire, men and women seem to prefer the city and to live in hope that salary and wages will meet the living cost, and that prices will not always soar.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

During a particularly nasty dust storm at one of the camps, a recruit ventured to seek shelter in the sacred precincts of the cook's domain.

After a time he broke an awkward silence by saying to the cook:

"If you put the lid on that camp kettle you would not get so much of the dust in your soup."

The irate cook glared at the intruder and then broke out:

"See here, my lad, your business is to serve your country."

"Yes," interrupted the recruit, "but not to eat it."—Tit-Bits.

The boy had just handed his father a sizable haberdasher's bill with the request that he pay it.

"You are an extravagant idiot!" roared the irate parent. "Does it ever occur to you to provide for a rainy day?"

"Why, yes, dad," said the youngster. "If you'll read over that bill you'll find that one of the items is for a $25 raincoat, and $15 of it is for umbrellas."—Life.

Two girl fans were watching the progress of the Tuesday game, when they noted Olson of Brooklyn had busted himself considerably, to the consternation of the Bostonians. They were visibly excited.

"Oh," exclaimed one, "I wonder if he is an Italian."

The roar of those who heard the exclamation quickly told the girl her mistake in nationalities.

Women Once Invalids

Now in Good Health Through Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Say it is Household Necessity. Doctor Called it a Miracle.

All women ought to know the wonderful effects of taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound even on those who seem hopelessly ill. Here are three actual cases:

Harrisburg, Penn.—"When I was single I suffered a great deal from female weakness because my work compelled me to stand all day. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for that and was made stronger by its use. After I was married I took the Compound again for a female trouble and after three months I passed what the doctor called a growth. He said it was a miracle that it came away as one generally goes under the knife to have them removed. I never want to be without your Compound in the house."—Mrs. Frank Knobl, 1642 Fulton St., Harrisburg, Penn.

Hardly Able to Move.

Albert Lea, Minn.—"For about a year I had sharp pains across my back and hips and was hardly able to move around the house. My head would ache and I was dizzy and had no appetite. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, I am feeling stronger than for years. I have a little boy eight months old and am doing my work all alone. I would not be without your remedies in the house as there are none like them."—Mrs. F. E. Yost, 611 Water St., Albert Lea, Minn.

Three Doctors Gave Her Up.

Pittsburg, Penn.—"Your medicine has helped me wonderfully. When I was a girl 18 years old I was always sickly and delicate and suffered from irregularities. Three doctors gave me up and said I would go into consumption. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and with the third bottle began to feel better. I soon became regular and I got strong and shortly after I was married. Now I have two nice stout healthy children and am able to work hard every day."—Mrs. Clementina Duerring, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, Pittsburg, Penn.

All women are invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special advice,—it will be confidential.

Cream of tartar, derived from grapes, is used in Royal Baking Powder because it is the best and most healthful ingredient known for the purpose.

Phosphate and alum, which are derived from mineral sources, are used in some baking powders, instead of cream of tartar, because they are cheaper.

If you have been induced to use baking powders made from alum or phosphate, use Royal Baking Powder instead. You will be pleased with the results and the difference in the quality of the food.

GOOD FORM IN TENNIS.

Don't Copy a Bad Style Because Some Star Player Uses It.

Good form in tennis is hard to describe. It is not necessarily the ability to win matches, nor is it always the most graceful way of hitting the ball. It is rather the method of playing those strokes that have been shown by long experience to produce the best results with the majority of players.

One too often hears an ambitious young player declare that any stroke that wins is good enough for him. Because McLoughlin won international matches in spite of using a cramped backhand swing they are willing to copy his style in the hope of equaling his skill.

But success does not justify bad form. What a McLoughlin or a Brookes might do with a bad style of play is not always the best for others to attempt. Ten would fail with such methods where one would succeed, while with good form ten would succeed while one would fail.

A young player with a generous future before him might much better select as a model of good form strokes such as Johnston uses or those shown by Larned. With such a model any healthy, active boy should be able to play tennis well after steady practice.

The game does not require height or weight or any unusual physical qualification.—J. Parmly Paret in St. Nicholas.

The Elevator Boy Protests.

Did you ever stop to consider the feelings of an elevator boy in an office building? "How'd you like to spend your days in a cage, goin' up, comin' down, same bad air, same old shafts slippin' by, never nothin' to see? How d'ye like it on a sunny day when you were dyin' to play baseball?" says the elevator boy.

"I never thought about it at all," the passenger answered.

"Well, I have. I thought about it most of the time fer four years. Even the fellows in Sing Sing gets out sometimes, but we don't. When I get to feelin' I can't stand it. I think of block after block of office buildings in this town, every one of 'em with fifteen or twenty cages, and a fellow like me in every one of 'em, spendin' his life goin' up, comin' down, goin' up, comin' down—and outside the world goin' on."—American Magazine.

Diana of Ephesus.

Ephesus was one of the twelve Ionic cities of Asia Minor and was situated in Lydia, near the mouth of the river Caystrus. According to Strabo, it was founded by Androclus, son of Codrus. It ultimately came into possession of the Romans, and in the time of Augustus it was the greatest place of trade of all the cities of Asia west of the Taurus. St. Paul resided there three years, but the destruction of its great temple by the Goths in 260 A. D gave it a blow from which it never recovered. This was the famous temple of Diana. Near the western extremity of the town are still to be seen some massive structures, which have since 1863 been carefully excavated. It is now certain that these stand on the famous temple site.

RILEY WAS SENSITIVE.

Why He Stopped Reciting One of His Poems in Public.

"As an illustration of Riley's sensitive nature," said Melville E. Stone, "Jim and I went alone to the theater to see Sol Smith Russell, who also belonged to the Salmagundi corner. He was playing 'The Poor Relation.' In the play was a scene where Russell took a young boy and put him in a barrel. Like he removed his trousers to make room. The audience roared with delight at the comic situation. Next to me in the box sat James Whitcomb Riley, sobbing as if his heart would break. He saw no humor in the part of the play. To him it was pathos.

"He, like Eugene Field, was devoted to children. He loved them, but he loved them artistically. I am not sure that personally—that is, in their own hanging to a man's coattails—the author of them wanted anything to do with. They lacked the audience power to pay for daily contact with children. Riley and Field could write so charmingly because in [illegible] children and put into them [illegible] out of human sympathy, but as far as I know this was at arm's length from the youngsters themselves. [illegible] Field's case. Riley was ever exceedingly sympathetic. One evening Jim was reciting his poem, 'A Happy Little Cripple' before a large audience. He had scarcely begun the lines—

"I'm that a little crippled boy an' never gone to run—
An' got a crippled frame an' can cause aunty to cry—
When I was that a baby one I fell out of bed
An' got the curvature of the spine—that's what the doctor said—when he noticed a man and a woman in the audience leaving the hall. He rightly guessed and found out that they had a little lame child of their own much like the one he was describing. He resolved never to recite that poem in public again."—New York Post.

A Puzzler.

"If you want to improve your mind," said the sage, "associate only with persons who know more than you do."

"But if they follow the same rule," said one of those who were learning wisdom at his feet, "what are we to do?"—Chicago Tribune.

Depends on the Point of View.

"Does your husband do foolish things with his money?"

"Well, I wouldn't say that. He gives it all to me."—Detroit Free Press.

BLANKETS and COMFORTS

It's time you were looking up your needs in blankets and comforts. Already the wind has begun to whistle and the cold weather will be on you before you can hardly realize it. We would advise you to look up your needs early. We have prepared for your wants and have bought early and are ready to sell you blankets and comforts at the old prices. But we feel that our present stock at the prices offered will not last long, and if we have to buy the same merchandise in the open market at today's prices we would have to raise the price and the late comers will have to pay more.

Be MR. EARL E. BIRD, get in right

Here we are showing great stocks of blankets and comforts which combine highest quality, in each grade, with lowest possible cost—really good blankets and comforts at the prices of the other kind. You should know that there is a big difference in blankets, many ways of skimping, lots of mill secrets are covered up in the making, but only an expert can detect them. And all comforts are not true to their appearance. Their filling is not just what it should be. Not so with ours—ours are good all the way through.

Such tobacco enjoyment

as you never thought could be is yours to command quick as you buy some Prince Albert and fire-up a pipe or a home-made cigarette!

Copyright 1916 by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

On the reverse side of this tidy red tin you will read: "Process Patented July 30th, 1907," which has made three men smoke pipes where one smoked before!

Prince Albert gives you every tobacco satisfaction your smoke-appetite ever hankered for. That's because it's made by a patented process that cuts out bite and parch! Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality!

has a flavor as different as it is delightful. You never tasted the like of it! And that isn't strange, either.

Buy Prince Albert everywhere tobacco is sold in toppy red bags, 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and—that corking fine pound crystal-glass humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such clever trim—always!

Men who think they can't smoke a pipe or roll a cigarette can smoke and will smoke if they use Prince Albert. And smokers who have not yet given P. A. a try-out certainly have a big surprise and a lot of enjoyment coming their way as soon as they invest in a supply. Prince Albert tobacco will tell its own story!

DOCTRINE OF HELL

for God and nature draws man to love God. In this life the soul can put aside the thought of God and stifle this inclination of nature; but in the next world God monopolizes eternity and God is the only thought to occupy the mind whether it be blissful or miserable. When the soul is freed of the sense of death, it perceives clearly the purpose of its existence; there are no distractions from the thought of God. Freed from the fetters of the body, the soul rushes toward God and God casts it off. Its hell shall be in seeing itself always drawn to God and continually being banished from God. God is the object of its desires, and it is God who torments it. This is the realization of St. Paul's anathema on the person who deliberately rejects Jesus Christ in this life." If any man will not love our Lord Jesus Christ, let him be anathema" that is, a thing accursed. (Cor. XVI-22)

This evening Father Scheer will preach on "The Great Assize."

THAT KNIFE-LIKE PAIN

Is Only One of Nature's Warnings of Weak or Disordered Kidneys

Have you a lame back, aching day and night? Do you feel sharp pains after stooping? Are the kidneys sore? Is their action irregular? Use Doan's Kidney Pills—the medicine recommended by so many Charleroi people. Read this case:

Mrs. D. F. Worthington, 914 McKean avenue, Charleroi says: "I was troubled by backache for years. The pains were so intense at times it made me sick all over. In the morning when I tried to get up, I was worse. Whenever I stooped, a sharp pain darted through me and I could hardly catch my breath. Often it was just as though a knife was being stuck into me. I was tired all the time. I had rheumatic pains throughout my body and my feet became swollen. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Piper Bros.' Drug Store, relieved me of all symptoms of the trouble. I now take Doan's Kidney Pills once in awhile as a kidney tonic and they always help me."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Worthington had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
